

Solar Appointment Setter

High-Performance Field Card Deck

- Your job: start quality conversations and set qualified appointments that show.
- Stay process-driven: script, qualify, close, confirm, follow up.
- Use this deck daily before and during field work.

Reset Standard

"Fresh door, fresh start. Smile, posture, pace. Ask one good question and go for the appointment."

Doorstep Script Framework

Short, clear, and assumptive

- Opener: "Hey, I'm [Name] with [Company] - I'll be quick."
- Context: helping local homeowners review utility costs and solar eligibility.
- Qualifier: "Are you the homeowner?"
- Close with two options: "Would [Time 1] or [Time 2] work better?"

Execution Rules

Keep script to 20-30 seconds.

Ask questions early.

Never ask open-ended scheduling questions.

Body Language + Tonality

Non-verbal control drives trust

- Stand 4-6 feet from the door, shoulders open, hands visible.
- Start warm, then shift to confident and curious tone.
- Use pauses after key questions. Slow down on important lines.
- Smile on approach; calm beats hype every time.

Lead Qualification: S.O.L.A.R.

Book quality appointments, not just activity

- S - Homeowner status confirmed.
- O - Ownership timeline: ideally 2+ years.
- L - Electric bill usage is meaningful.
- A - All decision-makers can attend.
- R - Roof/property likely fit (or alternatives).

Fast Qualifier

"So I do not waste your time, you own the home and both decision-makers can be there, right?"

Objection Handling: LACE

Listen -> Acknowledge -> Clarify -> Engage + Re-ask

- "Not interested": normalize, clarify reason, then re-ask with two times.
- "I am busy": compress to 10-15 minutes and offer later slot.
- "Need spouse": align and lock one joint decision time.
- "Leave info": position meeting as data-first, then schedule.

Rule

Keep rebuttals under 20 seconds.

Do not debate. Redirect to quick appointment ask.

Appointment Lock-In System

High show-rate scheduling sequence

- Confirm exact time, address, and best phone number.
- Confirm all decision-makers will attend.
- Set expectation: this is a 10-15 minute review.
- Send confirmation text immediately at the door.

Lock-In Line

"Perfect, you are set for [Day/Time] at [Address] with [Other Decision-Maker]."

"This is a quick 10-15 minute review. Best number for confirmation?"

Follow-Up Cadence

Most reps skip this and lose shows

- Immediately after set: send confirmation text.
- Morning of appointment: send reminder.
- 30-60 minutes before: final confirmation.
- No-show: reschedule in 10 minutes, then follow up next day.

No-Show Text

"We missed you today - no problem. Want to rebook a quick 15-minute review for [Option 1] or [Option 2]?"

Rejection Recovery Protocol

Bounce back in under 20 seconds

- Step 1: Exhale and physically reset posture.
- Step 2: Quick lesson - opener, qualifier, or ask?
- Step 3: Next door immediately with zero emotional carryover.
- You are not judged by one door. You are judged by consistency.

Daily Performance Standards

Non-negotiable operating metrics

- 80-120 doors knocked.
- 20-35 homeowner conversations.
- 8-15 full pitches.
- 2-5 qualified appointments set.
- 30 minutes of roleplay + evening follow-up block.

Core KPI Chain

Knocks -> Conversations -> Pitches -> Sets -> Shows

Improve the weakest conversion step first.

Field Commandments

Simple standards that separate top setters

- Do not skip script reps before the field.
- Do not leave without asking for the appointment.
- Do not leave appointments unconfirmed.
- Track your scorecard daily and review weekly.
- Discipline is your edge.

Final Standard

You are paid for disciplined execution, not random effort.
